“This stellar jury is well qualified to rigorously review a body of professional and personal work from entrants and identify the next generation of creative leaders,” said Michael O’Rourke, executive director, ADC. “Young Guns 15 winners will become part of an elite, career-long global creative community of past Young Guns, who often reconnect over the years to refer work, collaborate on projects and help advance each other’s careers.”

This year’s winners will be recognized at the Young Guns 15 celebration and party on 17 November 2017 in New York.
