What sets Nike's Springbok jersey designs apart

Nike's designers worked closely with the Springboks' to create a collection that reflects both the history of the team and the South African culture.

The rugby jerseys are engineered with our elite rugby players' needs in mind. Ventilation mesh panels in key areas keep them cool and dry while playing, by increasing air circulation to the player's bodies, regulating their temperature. Plus, the design ensures less friction, making the player's movements more fluid.

Beyond Springbok jerseys: Nike's complementary Springbok lifestyle collection

Rounding off the collection is a selection of lifestyle products, designed to cater to the players' needs when they're not on the field. From sleek black hoodies to reversible bucket hats – all with that iconic swoosh, and subtle colour and design elements that celebrate South African pride and culture.
