Fortinet continues to offer security training courses at no cost

Fortinet has announced that all its self-paced, advanced security training courses will remain free beyond 2021. The company's free training initiative provides learners access to more than 30 free security courses, preparation for NSE Certification exams, and continuing professional credits.

Fortinet has also introduced the free Information Security Awareness and Training service which provides organisations with a low barrier, zero cost solution to get started on an enterprise-wide cybersecurity awareness program for all employees.
