

Synthesis teams up with Pluralsight to close the technology skills gap

South African software developer Synthesis Software Technologies has partnered with Pluralsight to accelerate the development of technological skills. Synthesis is known for employing new technology to help consumers worldwide compete.

Pluralsight helps enterprises worldwide create technical skills at scale and match learning to key business objectives to overcome major skills gaps and improve customer value.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>