

Derichebourg Atis Aéronautique looks to Hi-Fly Marketing to grow in Sub-Saharan Africa

Aircrafts service provider Derichebourg Atis Aéronautique has selected South African-based aviation services firm Hi-Fly Marketing as its commercial representative for developing its activities through the Sub-Saharan African region.

This collaboration aims to bring greater value to African airlines, lessors, and financial institutions by offering them after-sales support: continuous airworthiness management, customer representation and delivery assistance, technical assistance for aircraft transition and asset management, knowledge transfer.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>