

Len Nery takes over New Age Gaming magazine

New Age Gaming magazine (NAG) business development manager Len Nery has bought the publication from Instance Media, and has been appointed as its managing director and publisher going forward. Nery has been part of the magazine since its launch over 22 years ago and helped it establish itself as one of South Africa's most-loved names in video games and geek culture media.

NAG covers, among others, games and e-sports, sci-tech, entertainment, pop culture, bad jokes and many provocative opinions.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>