

Omnicorn appoints its first chief marketing officer

Kathleen Saxton, a leading headhunter in the UK and global advertising industry, has been appointed as Omnicom's first chief marketing officer. Creating a CMO role is the latest sign that Omnicom is committed to connecting all its capabilities within the company and elevating the parent brand globally.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>