

Alison unveils free LMS to revolutionise training in organisations

Alison introduces its free learning management system (Free LMS), aiming to democratise skills training by removing financial barriers. This initiative aligns with Alison's mission of providing free education to all, promising to revolutionise corporate learning and development.

The Free LMS not only aids organisations in global competition but also fosters employee growth and engagement. Key features include unlimited user access, quick setup, a vast course library, personalised learning paths and tracking capabilities.
