

SanParks launches reality TV series Away for Repair

South African National Parks (SanParks) has announced that it will be launching a 13-week reality TV series on 7 October 2021 at 21:30 on Mzansi Magic DStv channel 161. Hosted by popular actress Rami Chuene and renowned life coach Romeo Mabasa, the series titled Away for Repair will showcase the heartfelt stories of ordinary people taking much-needed time away to mend broken bonds.

Life coach Romeo Mabasa and actress Rami Chuene will host Away for Repair

"Away for Repair, will treat viewers to an emotional roller-coaster as four teams of two undergo a relationship boot camp against the spectacular backdrops of seven of South Africa's prime National Parks," says Hapiloe Sello, SanParks managing executive: tourism development and marketing.

Through this series, the diversity of the national parks will be showcased to the Mzansi Magic audience as well as the range of fun and educational activities available in these destinations

Viewers will follow the journey through the mysteries of Southern Africa's first ancient African Kingdom in the Mapungubwe National Park, to the rugged coastline and deep forested gorges of the Tsitsikamma National Park through to the iconic Kruger National Park. The series will see the teams compete in various adventures that will challenge them physically and mentally all in a bid to repair their broken bonds.

The teams include a pair of varsity friends dealing with a deep betrayal, sisters yearning for acknowledgement of past hurts, a married couple that has lost their foundation of trust and a mother and daughter in deep need of unlearning their toxic behaviours.

Away for Repair will air on Mzansi Magic on DStv channel 161 on 7 October 2021 at 21:30. Episodes will broadcast every Thursday, with repeats on Saturdays at 10:30.
