

AFP's Marlowe Hood wins top climate journalism award

Marlowe Hood, an AFP environment correspondent whose work has helped to bring environmental issues to the attention of audiences worldwide, has received the BBVA Foundation's third award for environmental communication.

This award is not given to a single piece of work but rather to communication professionals who have made a significant contribution to the understanding of ecological challenges.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>